APPLICATION:

A convenient microfiber cloth on a roll for easy removal makes the job easier. Use as needed.

When the cloth is used dry on a wet surface, all droplets are absorbed into the fabric, leaving the surface clean and dry. Static electricity during wiping causes magnetism, which collects loose particles during wiping. When the cloth is used wet, another force comes into play—the capillary action. Millions of microscopic fibers absorb bacteria and microorganisms during wiping.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE:

Dusting and similar tasks: Use the cloth dry.
Cleaning: Use the cloth damp or well wrung out.

The used cloth can be washed at 60 degrees and reused, but we recommend considering it as a single-use solution.
